Rule the World

when is ever day reaches dawn I feel it's a smooth horizon but I stumble and I fall when you against my fate when the barricades come down I think it's up again when I'm just about to dawn I don't know how the end sometimes I tremble like a little child that's just moving with a broken stride sometimes I tremble when the shadows infect sometimes I feel that I could rule the world when the sunray comes alive release your love to me at the end of day is night to end it up with love

sometimes I tremble when the shadows infect

Ghost Opera

really so white where your survivors have a name and day is dark as night there's no romance and no redemption close the door can you hear the crowd is waiting for a lead singer screaming out for my attention

chanting my name

welcome all
to certain call
at the opera
raging voices in my mind
rise above the orchestra
like a crescendo of gratitude this is my song

like the dead
I am on the other side they're hurting in my head
hush my dear let the music fill the night and soon it's all we hear

don't render me until it's over I may be dreaming away

The Human Stain

I see the country sky examine red and deep watch the oceans rising high it's the human stain talk about the grating hunger ask why with deep concern don't you think the human race is needlessly vain but it hurts to be alive my friend in this silent tide we're drifting and passing by don't you wish you were a child again just for a minute

just for a minute more

from the ticking of a clock the sound of life itself no one really wants to die to save the world tell me that you're torn between from here we fail to reach and tell me

as the earth goes under where's your anger now so it hurts to be alive my friend in this insupportable where all one day must die don't you wish you were unborn again

be true the ticking that could tear asunder the beating from a heart of stone the loss of your divine prosperity cause it costs to be alive my friend and this life that someone secretly gave to you that's the price you pay minute by minute you beg for a minute more

Blücher

How could light of a new dawn on the head of the stranger be the same as the light of the morning?

[you ask in the morning]
A woman enters the air
will she remember me

will my April moon
and forsaken soul
came with me tonight

down in the dawn of morning revelations of death and despair just misty waters around me faint and naked the fear

[your side is close to the shore]

say your prayers loud and clearly all who still believe in god

Love You to Death

when they met she was fifteen like a black rose blooming wild and she already knew she was going to die

what's tomorrow without you
is this our last goodbye

she got weaker every day as the autumn leaves flew by until one day she told him this is when I die

what was summer like for you she asked him with a smile
he silently replied

[she said]
I will always be with you
I'm the anchor of your sorrow there's no end to what I'll do cause I love you to death but the sorrow went too deep the mountain felt too steep and the wounds would never heal cause the pain of the loss was more than he could feel [he said]

by the anchor of my sorrow all I know is ever last is I love you to death

cause I love you

Up Through the Ashes

so you can hear
they claim with empty hands you got a reward more what's your effort your cure your predictions they're getting loud

well if I let you die

raise me up
take me in
into the light

you want to die create some sensation be making the world an eye for an eye my king of creation king of the jester

before I let you die

give me sign of remorse I don't need your blood you will hang on the cross for playing god you the people must decide the self proclaimed prophet or the savior... murderer the king or the convict it's up to you so tell me what's free to go

[sometimes battles battles battles]

Mourning Star

on the terrible quiet, could it ever be life like you did, with its thoughts, its standing quiet, but did you, your silence and heaven may someone you know, you could die

as I'm, and you were, and you were when the world was, and you were, and you were but you, when the night is gone

the world is gone
and you are
be with the sun, and you are

for the light is, and you are
tell me, and you are, and you are

and you are, and you are

Anthem

what's a miracle
if life itself is not

sing me a song for the mountains to move sing me the anthem of life

sing me a song for the ocean to part

and so another page is turned

sing me a song like the world is gone sing me an anthem of life

Silence of the Darkness

I don't dare to take it slowly cause time may pass me by restless like a newborn morning I am, and you are, and you are

in the silence of the darkness
I can't pretend

I can't pretend

Eden Echo

first you said that you would never leave me every day then you told me life is never easy and left without a trace but just now I find you like the old songs for the rain

you're not light up my life let my soul breathe
tell me wrong tell me right
like a mountain for my
devoid in summer shade

you're not my love but I know you are new to my fear find the way I made my way through and now if you dare come back I know you

remember my name and from the sky down with your light you know your song for all the birds in the air like even closer to my heart the unforgotten song

The Pendulous Fall

in a garden in a field then a leaf to dance around and a few friends to my arms (the wind begins) in the solitude of life in the comfort of a house you hold your breath and going to god it runs like a song and you wonder where the random ends with a shadow setting sun there's a way from it all though the chances are small

like a shadow you were never and you were her when she showed and like a good old friend in the silence of the night you know and the way to find but you'll have better luck to find in you I wonder where the random ends where the shadow setting sun
